

STELLA – PASSION FOR TEAMWORK

ST Through that you build the networks, you get to know people. You know, through secondments, through working abroad, you've got somebody you can pull on, and the role I'm in now, sort of centrally in R&D, I have to use that network a lot. And I do and it works really well. I can call Lawrence because I knew Lawrence ten years ago when I joined at Colworth. You know, I've got to know Matt over the last few months probably more so. But those networks form and they're great, and you hold on to them, and that's actually the key thing for Unilever. I think it's a differentiator. It makes it fun to work here.
