UNILEVER'S POSITION ON CLONING

Unilever does not knowingly use foods or food ingredients derived from cloned animals or their offspring in its products. We do not intend to do so as long as wider societal concerns remain about the use of this technology in food. This position applies to all species, products and geographies.

UNILEVER'S POSITION

We are committed to conducting our operations with integrity and to putting consumer needs and choice at the heart of all of our activities. In our use of scientific innovation to meet consumer needs, we respect the concerns of our consumers and of society.
