Our Framework

Our Values

Our Values of Integrity, Respect, Responsibility and Pioneering are the simplest statement of who we are. They govern everything we do.

Code of Business Principles

Our Code of Business Principles is a simple ethical statement of how we should operate. We publish this externally and expect all others who work with us to set themselves equally high principles.

Code Policies

Our Code Policies define the ethical behaviours that we all need to demonstrate when working for Unilever. They are mandatory. While these are for internal use, we also publish them externally in support of transparency.

Foreword from Hein Schumacher

Welcome to the most important document we have at Unilever – our Code of Business Principles.

Unilever's high standards for how we do business is one of my most enduring memories of working within the company at the start of my career in the 1990s.

Whilst a lot has changed since then, our commitment to doing the right thing and treating people with respect and dignity is reassuringly unchanged.

We have always been a purpose-driven company and our success today, tomorrow and into the future is built on our shared commitment to always doing business with integrity.

This important document sets out the clear standards of conduct we are all required to uphold both individually and collectively. It is there to ensure we make the right choices as we go about our daily work and it also provides clear guidelines to help us prevent, detect and respond to any concerns.

This document exists to protect our people, our assets, our reputation, the communities in which we operate, our consumers, customers and our partners right across our value chain. It exists to make our company stronger.

Whether we have 25 years' service or joined only a matter of weeks ago, each of us must ensure we are familiar and fully up to date with our Code. Doing so ensures we understand both our responsibilities and our rights, and know when to speak up and raise concerns with confidence.

Thank you for living and upholding our Unilever Code of Business Principles today and every day.

The Code of Business Principles (1 of 2)

Introduction

At Unilever we believe in growing responsibly and sustainably.

Our Code of Business Principles defines the non-negotiables for all our employees. It codifies our values, making clear what is expected from our people.

Through living our Code, we will bring our values and purpose to life, every day in everything we do.

Standard of Conduct

We conduct our operations with honesty, integrity and openness, and with respect for the human rights and interests of our employees.

We shall similarly respect the legitimate interests of those with whom we have relationships.

We are committed to providing transparency across all our operations ensuring stakeholders trust what we do.

Obeying the Law

Unilever companies and employees are required to comply with the laws and regulations of the countries in which we operate.

Employees

Unilever is committed to a working environment that promotes diversity, inclusion, life-long learning and equal opportunity, including for those with disabilities. We believe in a workplace where there is mutual trust, respect for human rights and no discrimination. We support the physical and mental wellbeing of our employees, ensuring safe working conditions.

We will recruit, employ and promote employees on the sole basis of the qualifications and abilities needed for the work to be performed.

We will provide employees with a total remuneration package that meets or exceeds the legal minimum standards and in line with industry standards in the markets in which we operate. We are committed to giving employees a living wage, ensuring that they can meet their everyday needs.

We will not use any form of forced, compulsory, trafficked or child labour.

We respect the dignity of the individual and the right of employees to freedom of association and collective bargaining.

We will maintain good communications with employees through company-based information and consultation procedures.

We will provide transparent, fair and confidential procedures for employees and third parties to raise concerns. We will not retaliate against whistle-blowers or employees that raise issues with us.

Consumers

Unilever is committed to providing purposeful branded products and services which consistently offer value in terms of price and quality, and which are safe for their intended use. Products and services will be accurately and properly labelled, advertised and communicated.

Shareholders

Unilever will conduct its operations in accordance with internationally accepted principles of good corporate governance. We will provide timely, regular and reliable information on our activities, structure, financial situation and performance to all shareholders.

Business Partners

Unilever is committed to establishing mutually beneficial relations with our suppliers, customers and business partners. In our business dealings we expect our partners to adhere to business principles consistent with our own. This means compliance with our third party policies and a commitment to working with us to address issues that negatively impact society and the planet. We will work with these partners to raise standards so that their employees are paid a living wage and are not subject to forced, compulsory, trafficked or child labour.

The Code of Business Principles (2 of 2)

Compliance – Monitoring – Reporting

Compliance with these principles is an essential element in our business success. The Unilever Board is responsible for ensuring these principles are applied throughout Unilever.

The Chief Executive Officer is responsible for implementing these principles and is supported in this by the Global Code and Policy Committee which is chaired by the Chief Legal Officer.

Day-to-day responsibility is delegated to all senior management of the geographies, divisions, functions and operating companies. They are responsible for implementing these principles, supported by local Business Integrity Committees.

Assurance of compliance is given and monitored each year. Compliance is subject to review by the Board supported by the Corporate Responsibility Committee and for financial and accounting issues the Audit Committee.

Any breaches of the Code must be reported. The Board of Unilever will not criticise management for any loss of business resulting from adherence to these principles and other mandatory policies. Provision has been made for employees to be able to report in confidence and no employee will suffer as a consequence of doing so.

Community Involvement

Unilever strives to be a trusted corporate citizen and, as an integral part of society, to fulfil our responsibilities to the societies and communities in which we operate.

Innovation

In our scientific innovation to meet consumer needs we will respect the concerns of our consumers and of society. We will work on the basis of sound science, applying rigorous standards of product safety.

Competition

Unilever believes in vigorous yet fair competition and supports the development of appropriate competition laws. Unilever companies and employees will conduct their operations in accordance with the principles of fair competition and all applicable regulations.

The Planet

Unilever is committed to making continuous improvements in the management of our environmental impact and to the longer-term goal of developing a sustainable business.

Unilever will work in partnership with others to promote environmental care, increase understanding of environmental issues and disseminate good practice.

Public Activities

Unilever companies are encouraged to promote and defend their legitimate business interests.

Unilever will co-operate with governments and other organisations, both directly and through bodies such as trade associations, in the development of proposed legislation and other regulations which may affect legitimate business interests.

Unilever neither supports political parties nor contributes to the funds of groups whose activities are calculated to promote party interests.

Bribery & Corruption

Unilever does not give or receive, whether directly or indirectly, bribes or other improper advantages for business or financial gain. No employee may offer, give or receive any gift or payment which is, or may be construed as being, a bribe.

Any demand for, or offer of, a bribe must be rejected immediately and reported to management.

Unilever accounting records and supporting documents must accurately describe and reflect the nature of the underlying transactions. No undisclosed or unrecorded account, fund or asset will be established or maintained.

Conflicts of Interests

All employees and others working for Unilever are expected to avoid personal activities and financial interests which could conflict with their responsibilities to the company.

Employees must not seek gain for themselves or others through misuse of their positions.

Data

Unilever is committed to the responsible, ethical and fair use of data.

We collect and use data in line with our values, applicable laws and with respect for privacy as a human right.

Note

In this Code the expressions 'Unilever' and 'Unilever companies' are used for convenience and mean the Unilever Group of companies comprising Unilever PLC and its respective subsidiary companies. The Board of Unilever means the Directors of Unilever PLC.

Living the Code (1 of 2)

As a purpose-led company, our values are the foundation of our success and essential to achieving our ambition of making sustainable living commonplace.

Living the Code means to put our values into practice and reiterate our commitment to doing good; this helps us to deliver value with values. Our consumers and customers trust us for doing business with integrity. This is one of our greatest assets, and to maintain our reputation, requires the highest standards of behaviour.

Unilever's Code of Business Principles (the Code), and the policies that support it (Code Policies), set out the standards required from all our employees. Unilever also requires its third-party business partners and their employees to adhere to business principles consistent with our own.

These expectations are set out in Unilever's Responsible Sourcing and Business Partnering Policy that underpin our third-party compliance programme.

Breaching the Code or Code Policies could have very serious consequences for Unilever and for individuals involved. Where illegal conduct is involved, these could include significant fines for Unilever, imprisonment for individuals and significant damage to our reputation.

This Code Policy explains how to ensure the Code and all Code Policies are understood and followed by all our employees and others working for Unilever. It confirms everyone's responsibility to speak up and report suspected or actual breaches, and outlines how such situations must be managed. Any failure to comply with the Code and any of the Code Policies is taken very seriously by Unilever and may result in disciplinary action, including dismissal and legal action.

References in the Code and Code Policies to 'employees' include the following:

- Unilever employees, whether full time, part time, fixed term, permanent or trainees
- Persons with statutory director roles or equivalent responsibilities
- Unilever employees of joint ventures
- Employees of new acquisitions, from the date that the company is acquired

Living the Code is a team effort. The Code and Code Policies cannot cover every eventuality, particularly as laws differ between countries. If specific situations are not expressly covered, the spirit of the Code and Code Policies must be upheld by exercising common sense and good judgement, always in compliance with applicable laws.

Musts

All employees must:

- Ensure they know and understand the requirements of our Code and Code Policies
- Undertake relevant training (including the completion of the annual Code declaration) as required by their Line Manager or Business Integrity Officer
- Follow the Code and Code Policies: if they are unsure of how to interpret these or have any doubts about whether specific behaviours meet the standards required they must seek the advice of their Line Manager or Business Integrity Officer
- Immediately report actual or potential breaches of the Code or Code Policies, whether relating to them, colleagues or people acting on Unilever's behalf and whether accidental or deliberate. This includes instances where business partners' behaviour may not meet the same standards

 - If asked not to report a potential breach by their Line Manager or another employee, they must immediately report it to their Business Integrity Officer and / or the Code Support Line
- In addition, those at Manager level and above must:

 - Have read the Code and Code Policies
 - Have completed any related mandatory training

- Ensure that anyone who raises concerns, or highlights potential or actual breaches, receives support and respect and that there is no retaliation against them
- Ensure that concerns raised are taken seriously and addressed promptly, treating related information with discretion and discussing them with their Business Integrity Officer as soon as possible to determine the appropriate course of action including whom else to inform
- Collaborate further and complete any documentation (e.g. case information and lessons learnt) as may be required of them by their Business Integrity Officer
- Insofar as a breach may have occurred within their operations, consider what additional communications, training or changes to business controls and procedures are necessary to reduce the likelihood of similar breaches occurring

Must nots

- Attempt to prevent a colleague from reporting a potential or actual breach or ask them to ignore an issue

- Appoint, manage or remove external legal counsel or pay any legal fees that differ from the fee structures agreed by Legal Group

Responsible Risk Management

Unilever takes an embedded approach to risk management which puts risk and opportunity assessment at the core of the leadership team agenda. Unilever defines risks as actions or events that have the potential to impact our ability to achieve our objectives. Avoiding Conflicts of Interest

Conflicts of interest can have a significant negative impact on the reputation and effectiveness of Unilever, its business and its people. They arise when an employee allows their actual, perceived or potential personal, financial or non-financial interests to affect their objectivity when performing their job at Unilever.

This Code Policy sets out what employees must do to prevent and to manage these situations.

A conflict of interest may arise, and disclosure is required, when an employee:

- Hires, manages, or has an influence on the workload, performance assessment, granting of approvals and / or reward of someone with whom they have a close personal relationship
- Accepts or performs a Public Official role, or has a family member or a close personal contact who is a Public Official with the ability to take decisions that could impact Unilever business
- Has a close personal interest in the business of competitors or other third parties relevant to Unilever. This includes cases where the employee, their family members or a close personal contact:
 - work for or provide any services to competitors or to any other third parties relevant to Unilever's business

- hold investments other than in publicly traded pension funds, index linked or tracker funds that represent:
 - Substantial interests in a competitor, State controlled or influenced entity, or any other third party relevant to Unilever business (5% of the net worth of any of these entities)
 - Any interest in a third party if they, or one of their team, are involved in engaging, monitoring or investigating the third party's performance
 - Produces, promotes or advises on products or services that could be in direct competition with Unilever. This prohibition extends to paid or unpaid engagements to advise on products, services, processes or systems that may be relevant to Unilever.
 - Allows their non-financial interests such as personal values, beliefs, welfare and political views to take precedence over Unilever's lawful and ethical expectations, affecting their performance or objectivity at work
 - Follow the process outlined here to immediately disclose an actual, perceived or potential conflict of interest to their Business Integrity Officer who will determine the best way to manage the situation in consultation with the employee's Line Manager
 - Follow the same process if they are interested in taking up, in a personal capacity, a proposed directorship (or equivalent) of another organisation, whether commercial or not-for-profit, including roles in trade associations and roles for public bodies. This obligation extends to new joiners that hold directorships and have not disclosed them as part of the recruitment process
- The above disclosure requirements excludes roles of school governors, governing positions in amateur sporting or recreational groups, and directors of property/housing blocks in which an employee lives
- Obtain written approval from the Chief Legal Officer and the Chief Business Integrity Officer, before becoming a director of any publicly listed company
 - Ensure that external commitments do not:
 - Detract them from their commitment and contribution to Unilever
 - Provide access to commercially sensitive information concerning actual or potential Unilever

competitors (see Code Policies on Fair Competition and Competitors' Information); and / or

- Create any liability for Unilever. The employee must inform the other organisation that they take up this position on a personal basis, with no responsibility for Unilever and that any fees or benefits that arise from their engagement are not passed on to Unilever

Employees must not:

- Accept appointments, debate, vote, or participate in any decision-making process or activity when a conflict of interest exists or might arise before their Business Integrity Officer has provided clearance
- Take, or divert to others, any business opportunities that arise in the course of doing their job at Unilever that could be of interest to Unilever
- Misuse their position in Unilever to advance personal interests
- Hire, contract or engage any individual or organisation without ensuring they are free of conflict of interest with Unilever
- Hire or retain the services of former Public Officials without following Unilever's Principles on 'revolving doors'.

Musts

Employees must:

- Ensure Unilever is best placed to benefit from potential business opportunities

Anti-Bribery

To support global efforts to fight corruption, most countries have laws that prohibit bribery: many apply these 'internationally' to behaviour beyond their borders. A breach of such laws may result in legal and financial consequences for Unilever and individuals. Dealings with public officials are particularly high risk: even the appearance of illegal conduct could cause significant damage to Unilever's reputation.

Unilever's commitment to doing business with integrity requires consistently high global standards: our zero-tolerance approach towards bribery and corruption applies to all Unilever operations, regardless of local business practices, and prohibits both public and commercial bribery (e.g. to or from any third party).

This Code Policy covers what employees must and must not do to meet Unilever requirements.

Musts

Employees must:

- Always make clear, internally and when dealing with third parties, that Unilever has a zero tolerance approach to bribery and corruption and will not (directly or indirectly) offer, pay, seek or accept a payment, gift or favour to improperly influence a business outcome
- Immediately notify their Business Integrity Officer and Business Group and Country General Counsel if they become aware of any suggested or actual payment or other transaction which has the potential to be in breach of this Code Policy
- Follow Unilever's third party compliance policies and controls in accordance with the Responsible Sourcing and Business Partnering Code Policy
- Use electronic communications or e-government solutions (in areas such as licencing, procurement, taxes, brand protection, etc) or any other means available to reduce face-to-face interactions with public officials and the connected risks of bribe solicitation

Employees must not directly or indirectly (e.g. via suppliers, agents, distributors, consultants, lawyers, intermediaries or anyone else):

- Offer or give bribes or improper advantages (including facilitation payments) to any public official or other individual or third party, which are, or give the impression that they are, intended to influence decisions by any person about Unilever
- Request or receive bribes or improper advantages from any third party, which are, or give the impression that they may be, intended to influence decisions by Unilever about that third party

In exceptional situations where employees cannot escape imminent threat to their life, liberty, or physical harm without meeting a demand for payment, such a payment may be made but those involved must immediately report full details to their Business Integrity Officer and Business Group and Country General Counsel in the country where the incident occurred. This is to ensure that the matter can be fully investigated, necessary financial records kept, and further steps taken where appropriate (see also Code Policy on Accurate Records, Reporting and Accounting).

All Unilever's relationships must reflect its ongoing commitment to doing business with integrity.

Hospitality can play a positive role in building relationships with customers, suppliers and other third parties. Likewise, it is sometimes appropriate to offer reasonable gifts, e.g. in the context of promotional events or product launches. However, as accepting or receiving gifts and hospitality can be open to abuse or generate actual or perceived conflicts of interest, this should occur sparingly and always be legitimate and proportionate in the context of Unilever's business activities.

This Code Policy sets out responsibilities of employees in relation to gifts and hospitality. It makes clear what forms of gifts and hospitality are always prohibited. It also explains in what circumstances gifts or hospitality may legitimately be given or received.

Musts

Employees must:

- Apply this Code Policy in good faith to ensure gifts and hospitality are never considered to be excessive, confer improper advantage or create an actual or perceived conflict of interest (see Code Policies on Anti-Bribery and Avoiding Conflicts of Interest)
- Familiarise and observe the local monetary limits that Unilever has set separately for gifts and for hospitality, unless exempted in accordance with this Code Policy

Gifts & Hospitality (2 of 2)

Musts

Gifts

Employees must:

- Ensure that any gifts offered (other than Unilever branded merchandise) or received do not exceed the local monetary limits for gifts, are one-off or irregular in nature and always comply with the Code Policy on Avoiding Conflicts of Interest. Although employees are not required to record such gifts centrally, they must keep their own records for inspection. All exceptions require prior clearance by their Business Integrity Officer
- Ensure that if they are offered a gift that exceeds the local monetary limits for gifts they must politely decline and explain the Unilever rules. In exceptional situations where such gifts have to be accepted to avoid causing serious offence, or circumstances genuinely preclude their return, employees must:
 - Obtain clearance from their Business Integrity Officer; and
 - Where appropriate take steps for the gift to be donated to charity

- Ensure that all gifts by employees that take the form of Unilever branded merchandising materials must be legitimate and proportionate

Hospitality

Employees must:

- Ensure that hospitality is only offered or accepted if:
 - There is a legitimate business interest in doing so
 - Its value does not exceed the local monetary limits for hospitality; and
 - It remains one-off or irregular in nature
 - It is in the form of a locally hosted meal, attendance at, or participation in an organised 'team-building' occasion, local cultural or sporting event, local industry award ceremony, business site visit or similar responsible activity
 - Usual business contacts from Unilever and other parties are physically present

Employees are not required to record such hospitality centrally, but must keep their own records for inspection and ensure expenditure associated with any hospitality provided by, or on behalf of, Unilever is approved using Unilever's standard local expense processing and clearance systems.

In exceptional circumstances where employees seek to offer or accept hospitality above the local monetary limits for hospitality, they must:

- Check their Line Manager supports the proposal
- Obtain clearance from their Business Integrity Officer; and
- Once approval is received, ask the third party to confirm that the offer or acceptance of such hospitality also complies with its equivalent gifts and hospitality policy

In other circumstances where employees are offered or asked for hospitality that exceeds relevant local monetary limits for hospitality they must politely decline by reference to this Code Policy.

Must nots

Employees must not:

- Discuss, offer or receive any gifts or hospitality activity involving public officials or their family members without prior clearance from their Business Integrity Officer
- Offer or accept any gifts or hospitality, or any other favours which are intended or might be seen to influence business decisions or create an obligation to do something in return
- Offer or accept any gifts that are in cash or a cash equivalent, such as lottery tickets, gift certificates, vouchers, loans, guarantees or any other granting of credit, shares or options
- Offer or accept any hospitality involving overnight stays or foreign travel without prior written clearance from their Business Integrity Officer
- Offer or accept any hospitality that is not consistent with the Code Policy on Respect, Dignity and Fair Treatment, or may cause offence under local norms and customs

All clearances from their Business Integrity Officer referred to in this Code Policy must be obtained following the gifts and hospitality disclosure process available here

Accurate Records, Reporting & Accounting

The financial reports and other information that Unilever maintains internally and the financial information it provides to shareholders, regulators and other stakeholders must be accurate and complete.

Our records provide valuable information for the business and evidence of our actions, decisions and obligations. Procedures and processes must be in place to ensure that underlying transactions are properly authorised and accurately recorded.

Any failure to record transactions accurately, or falsifying or creating misleading information or influencing others to do so, could constitute fraud and result in fines or penalties for employees or for Unilever.

This Code Policy sets out what employees must do to ensure the accuracy of our business records and financial information.

Musts

Employees must:

- Record all transactions accurately, completely and promptly
- Only perform transactions, such as buying, selling or transferring goods/assets, for which they are authorised

For information on the protection of several other asset types see the Code Policies on Occupational Health and Safety and Protecting Unilever's Information.

This Code Policy covers the protection of physical assets and property, financial assets and intellectual property.

Musts

Physical assets/property

Employees must:

- Take care to ensure that all Unilever physical assets and property they come into contact with while working are not damaged, misused or wasted. Anti-Money Laundering and Economic Sanctions

To protect Unilever's reputation and avoid criminal liability, it is important not to become associated – however innocently – with the criminal activities of others. In particular, employees must ensure Unilever is in compliance with economic sanctions laws and regulations and does not deal with the proceeds of criminal activities, as this can amount to the criminal offence of money laundering.

This Code Policy sets out essential steps employees must take to avoid breaching economic sanctions rules or being implicated in money laundering.

Musts

Employees must:

- Comply with the Responsible Sourcing and Business Partnering Code Policy, the Global Economic Sanctions Standard, and any local anti-money laundering or sanctions procedures, when they onboard, contract or monitor third parties
- Immediately notify their Business Group and Country General Counsel if they have any suspicions about actual or potential money laundering activity or about transactions with sanctioned countries or sanctioned third parties
- Obtain prior clearance from their Business Group and Country General Counsel alongside senior Finance business partners before allowing any of the following events to happen:

Third party requests to:

- Pay funds to a bank account in the name of a different third party or outside the country of their operation
- Take payments in a form outside the normal terms of business
- Split payments to several bank accounts
- Overpay

Third party payments to Unilever:

- From multiple bank accounts
- From bank accounts from a different geography than the one where the third party is resident
- Deposited in cash when normally made by cheque or electronically

- Made in advance when not part of normal terms of business

Employees involved in engaging or contracting with third parties such as new suppliers, customers and distributors must:

- Ensure that the third parties in question are subject to screening to assess their identity and legitimacy before contracts are signed or transactions occur. Various factors will determine the appropriate forms and levels of screening
- Determine, with guidance from their Business Integrity Officer, which tools and processes should be used to facilitate appropriate screening and record-keeping (see the Responsible Sourcing and Business Partnering Policy)

- Carefully consider, where necessary in consultation with their Business Integrity Officer or General Counsel, screening outcomes before deciding whether to do business with the third party

Finance managers who support Supply Chain Management and Customer Development must regularly monitor and / or review suppliers, customers and other third-party service providers to identify business activity or governance that could indicate money laundering is taking place

Must nots

Employees must not:

- Simply assume relevant third-party screening has already taken place: failure to check or update screenings periodically may put Unilever and its employees at risk
- Inform a third party suspected of money laundering that they are subject of an internal or external investigation. Employees must obtain guidance from their Business Group and Country General Counsel on how to handle the matter with the third party

Information is essential to our success: it fuels our research, keeps us in touch with consumer needs and helps us work effectively together. If used inappropriately, information can cause considerable damage to our business.

Protecting Unilever's Information

Information is one of Unilever's most valuable business assets: Unilever is committed to safeguarding and protecting our information and any other information entrusted to us.

If in doubt about how to handle any Unilever information, restricted or otherwise, employees must seek advice from their Line Manager, Business Information Security Officer and / or Legal Business Partner

Preventing Insider Trading

Employees must not use inside information to buy or sell securities of Unilever PLC, or any listed Unilever subsidiary, or any other publicly traded company. Securities include shares, equities and related derivatives or spread bets.

Unilever's Disclosure Committee – on behalf of the Board – oversees that Unilever has the necessary procedures in place to ensure Unilever complies with applicable insider trading laws and regulations (see Unilever's Share Dealing Standard and Disclosure Manual).

This Code Policy explains what insider trading is, how employees can be sure they don't engage in it, and what to do if they discover inside information is being misused.

Trading or encouraging others to trade on inside information, or giving it to unauthorised parties, is a criminal offence in many countries: a breach of the applicable laws can lead to fines and / or imprisonment. Inside (or price sensitive) information means information that is not available to the public and that a reasonable investor would probably consider important in deciding whether to buy or sell a company's shares. Examples of inside information include the following:

- Business results or forecasts for the whole company or for one of our listed subsidiaries
- A major new product, product claim or product incident/issue
- An acquisition, merger or divestment

Employees must not:

- Encourage anyone to buy or sell securities of any listed companies when they have inside information related to those securities – even if they do not profit from the arrangement
- Pass Inside Information relating to Unilever to anyone within Unilever (unless they are on a relevant Unilever Insider List) or outside Unilever, including family members or friends (see the Code Policy on Protecting Unilever's Information)
- Spread false information or engage in other activities to manipulate the price of publicly listed securities

Competitors' Information

To promote fair competition Unilever gathers and uses competitor's information that is in the public domain, for example, from newspapers, the internet and company filings.
